TRACK 1: MUZZLE UP, TEETH DOWN
Artist: K-9 ft. Big 9
Style: Rally anthem, aggressive
Themes: Unity, North-South connection, Strange Music influence, Dogs philosophy

[INTRO - K-9]
Red paw
Dogs Stay Ready
SD connections
From the pen to the penatentiary
K9 on the track straight re mending
Muzzle up
Teeth down
Aroo
Let's go

[VERSE - K-9]
Sett trip on the guest whip
Strep to the next to get tred in Bled the bredren
Of my stray dogs prederen
North to South to the End of the ends' den
K9 big 9s bredren
Fam to fam it's ascendin
No bar or beat tings can send in
Let's stop jeffen
To them Biancas and Beatrice's
Big ups to Tech, Krizz, and X them
Them no dogs west ends men
Beat the beast back and bend em
This is to me bredren my hearts souls and blessed men
Rise up and reject the resentment
To my fam from the Midwest in U.S, chop rep men
Thems that real raw rap
The rest be slept in
Not us who listen to the sin you commiting
When you play your music and they stop and listen
And get pissed when
They hear the reverend
Spit at how the system is straight pretending

NOTES:
- "From the pen to the penatentiary" = writing pen + Big 9 in prison
- "Big ups to Tech, Krizz, and X them" = Strange Music connection (Tech N9ne, Krizz Kaliko, King Iso)
- "Muzzle up Teeth down" = Core Dogs philosophy (control vs. release)

TRACK 2: CYANIDE SHINE
Artist: K-9
Style: Trap-influenced grime, tempo changes
Themes: LGBTQ+ identity, economic survival, independence, duality (poison/shine)
Production: Ticking clock intro → Heavy distortion → Half-time bridge → Rapid-fire break → Siren FX outro

[INTRO - Fast, no beat, just ticking clock sound]

Mandem!
Bills don't back dis—or back diss.
Moves stay dangerous, you're just average: Trap rat status.
But can't catch: diss.
Real grime rap trapped straight from the at risks.
Brought to the masses, from the boroughs to the big league—independent.

[VERSE 1 - Beat Drops, Heavy Distortion]
Bruv. No cap, straight gassin' with mad rizz.
Stay active on the move, missing all the wastemen stand-ins.
You know, right proper ad lib.
Your boyfriend had a bad wish;
Blew on me candles and his face got caked with the man's kids.
Back the knife, to save a life, rode the limelight.
Told 'im that my time's bright and that I'm cashing all the cheddar
To get 'im wetter than a bad drip.
Said man's got that Brad Pitt—
Snatch up a pack for the act, no draggin.
No names, no shame, just cashed in.
Null action. Sullen till a lull in,
Pullin dozens while they coven for a bad dig.
Lizzie's got me in a tizzy, dropped the gwop to get the rock to shine right;
Took it off and swapped it on a dimed vice.

[THE BRIDGE - Half-Time Tempo]
Paigons be acting moist n' nitty—oh, they blind right?
Copped a feely, popped a wheelie and said to my mother that I wine dykes.
Mama said that ain't the way so I switched it up—
Now I Whines rights! (whining 'bout rights) and bind Nikes.

[THE BREAK - Rapid Fire]
K9 straight rhymez.
Ps and Qs when at the que, a bag or two in and the pipe in the sightline:
"Put the notes in the tote or get brought to the coach, left with a hole and a rose, timed like thrice."
Fine ice.

[VERSE 2]
Got you staring—my shine's bright.
Keep the shades, throw the blades, raise it to the right pyke.
Got a fine sight. Bruv got a fine site,
Sources better find a fine cite.

Ass phat and it claps when he strides by,
Told 'im keep the Elizabeths and ride it on the side, guy.
Pop the booty at the right grind,
Flex a bit and bounce the stick like a nice high.

[OUTRO - Fading out with Siren FX]
Independent and I'm minted,
Baby boy better bring up the right price or just be at the light's when the night's bite.
Straight: jab, elbowed, smack.
Rip, active, slip past witt—gotta grip.
Took a sip of cyanide and I died twice.
I…
Lipped a smidge of his and his,
Brothers like how I'm dripped and spit.
Supplied tight.
Fuelled by petrol that's proper right nice
Passing flashing blue and white lights.
It's a nice sight.

NOTES:
- "at risks" with asterisk (*) = at-risk youth + trap music + asterisk notation
- "wine dykes → Whines rights" = K-9's bisexuality coming-out moment
- This is K-9's STATEMENT track — identity, sexuality, independence

TRACK 3: STRAY DOG: THE AT-RISK ANTHOLOGY (Extended Version)
Artist: K-9 ft. Dame, Zedd
Style: Multi-section epic with tempo shifts
Themes: At-risk youth, identity, system critique, LGBTQ+ visibility

[INTRO - DJ DROOL + K-9]
(DJ Drool producer tag)
K9 on the track. Stray Dog studios.
From the North Ends to the trends...

[VERSE 1 - K-9 / THE HUSTLE]
Bruv. No cap, straight gassin' with mad rizz.
Stay active on the move, missing all the wastemen stand-ins.
You know, right proper ad lib.
Your boyfriend had a bad wish;

Blew on me candles and his face got caked with the man's kids.
Back the knife, to save a life, rode the limelight.
Told 'im that my time's bright and that I'm cashing all the cheddar
To get 'im wetter than a bad drip.
Said man's got that Brad Pitt—
Snatch up a pack for the act, no draggin.

[CHOPPER EXTENSION - K-9]
Brad Pitt snatch the cash from the back t,
I'll be acting movements practiced;
Swoop enaction forced by traction,
Sow a stand in twice the flak then.
Lyrics fractions, voice is dappin,
Coasted back then, now I'm baskin.

[CHORUS - K-9]
(TEMPO SETTLES)
No names, no shame, just cashed in.
K-9 draped in fine shined glassfit from the burros that detest the faux grime.
Explode in those dimes, sett repped since those Os became lines.
Less trekked path exposed your own spine.
These flows leave a colder shoulder than when death encroached mine.

[CHORUS / HOOK]
The chain done broke in a flash tiff. Leave the smoke at the toke you just branddish off brand simp.
Raw dogged like the fog, dead upon landin. Maddenin. Absinthe in the veins.
No yappin take the piss and the shit then get snapped wit the teeth as the pack commands is—
Get dragged and scratched like a track at the back of the van tings.

[VERSE 2 - K-9 / THE SYSTEMIC GRIND]
Trust in the system, lust is sippin on second hand hem and kissing.
Viscous vics and vixens with him. Trip to slip is mixed in, piston 'is blistering.
Blips predict sin, mission gives Pinnacle point pseudo fringe pins.
Lizzie's got me in a tizzy, dropped the gwop to get the rock to shine right;
Took it off and swapped it on a dimed vice. Paigons be acting moist n' nitty—oh, they blind right?
Copped a feely, popped a wheelie and said to my mother that I wine dykes.
Mama said that ain't the way so I switched it up—Now I Whines rights! And bind Nikes, mic Mike's, and sound bytes.

[BRIDGE - K-9 + DAME / THE DECONSTRUCTION]
(K9) Denote thy dethrone the despot deemed desperate demote drive. Flex is labeled inept expose lies.

Detoke deboast devoted defile dethrone decline deeper derobbing desolation denote dive deepening deeds done decode defunk disposable dope mine.
(Dame) Move back now the tracks on a higher level. Dame runs the game thick on the bass and treble.
Fresh out the gate and down on debatable rebels here to claim the name that shakes the kennels.
Trouble is the torture of those tied to tumultuous trend setting tormented to the theoretical throne torn by tedious tinder entropy.
Men to ring mutts mistreated more metaphysically.

[VERSE 3 - ZEDD / THE WEAPON'S WEAPON]
Zed Kidd called to step in.
When the dogs need a weapon's weapon.
No detesting, it's a blessing
To be the one put the fright back in reverends.
Smith and Wesson, bliss except cind
When the one took 10 to the chest n' kept on reppen wit me bredren.
Fuck the checks and the press let's get heckling.
Express the stressed men who regretting the retrogression renewed resurrection of the next kin.
Trace the vexed men who trepped in death's grin
And expected less than a reaper's texin.
Blessed in bled sin.
Stray Dogs sett in when we step in.
Test the text en detest deception.
Deft is deafening.
Ssel dednefed. Tsud ot Tsud htaeneb is.
Reflect on duress regret flex introspection.

[OUTRO]
(Dame) Independent and I'm minted,
Baby boy better bring up the right price
Or just be at the light's when the night's bite.
Leave them to their territorial turbulent ecstasy.
(K9) Straight: jab, elbowed, smack.
Rip, active, slip past witt—gotta grip.
Took a sip of cyanide.
I…
Lipped a smidge of his and his,
Brothers like how I'm dripped and spit.
Supplied tight.
Stray Dogs Don't Die. Dismantle dem brothas and sistahs who act tuff. Pleas don't @ me unless you av a bag bruv.
Zed: "No.. I mean no..." [Sound of heavy clattering]

K9: "On second thought Zed keep the chain wherever you want."

NOTES:
- Zed's reversed text: "Ssel dednefed. Tsud ot Tsud htaeneb is" = cipher communication
- Dame's verse establishes her as full artist, not just producer
- Extended version includes Chopper section showing Tech N9ne influence

TRACK 4: SEEN STRANGE / EMPIRE
Artist: Dog-Prophet (credited as Zed-Artist in some versions)
Style: Philosophical grime, technical manifesto
Themes: Defying stereotypes, pain as fuel, empire building, anti-oppression, LGBTQ+ solidarity

[VERSE]
Seen strange.
You think I gang-bang, play lanes.
Shame your brain came.
Defamed claims of rotten debaucherously named thangs.
Aimed straight even when my mentality stayed gay.
Claimed pain used it to main lame.
Used it to fuck with the sinners stuck solemn shamed
Taught tenacity takes time to temper.
That fake fucks find fire for feigning embers.
Changed my empire from the base all the way up to the highest highness's stem finder.
Kept ire.
So let's try ta
Cash them checks, wire them to the next fire that dreams pyre.
Bring riots to the Nazis and the next friar that trys to expire.
The deportees, dedicated doctors and them that brotha them hire.

NOTES:
- "Aimed straight even when my mentality stayed gay" = LGBTQ+ pride
- "Bring riots to the Nazis" = anti-fascist, pro-immigrant stance
- Vowel-locking technique on long A sounds throughout

TRACK 5: MECHANICAL SHAME
Artist: Dog-Prophet
Style: Protest track, anti-system

Themes: Education as indoctrination, dehumanization, militarization, gentrification

[VERSE]
The twisted ness of teachers are technically designed to train you well.
Thwart your brain, creatures of a mechanical reminder of the shame
That aimed to Sioux entrailes.
Dehumanize masses market militarization
Branish Bureaucracy betwixt genocidal gentrification.
Reduce freedom denounce the individual
Breed segregation.

NOTES:
- "Branish Bureaucracy betwixt genocidal gentrification" = links policy violence to ethnic cleansing
- Scathing critique of education system (NEPH's grey jumpsuits as prison pipeline)

TRACK 6: RHETORIC & REPENTANCE
Artist: Chew-Toy (Dog-Prophet on some credits)
Style: Wisdom track, elder teaching
Themes: Language as power, repentance vs. condescension, community as teachers

[VERSE]
Mandem bredren it's not all 6s and 7s
Bran-deshing weapons
Or repps setting.
Lessons can spin your skull
Leave you questioning
Expressions
Only threaten
When mandem don't understand dem
And expect tin.
Big ups to Neph kin
Who left us breathless
Taught people that proper rhetoric
Not in condescendane
But in repentance for a next kin.
Nopaew ruoy Tesr.

NOTES:
- "Nopaew ruoy Tesr" = BACKWARDS: "Rest your weapon" (hidden de-escalation)

- "6s and 7s" = British idiom for confusion/chaos

TRACK 7: NEST CREASE
Artist: K-9
Style: Loyalty anthem, defensive
Themes: Protecting Rax, rejecting boyfriend rumors, NEPH/SEPH unity, LGBTQ+ defense

[VERSE]
Me bredren, here's a lesson
For all those who think they best in.
Their connections or selection
It's not about what sex my sex is preferrin.
Here's the blessed ting
For the extreme
Tossers that be projecting.
Rax is best string
Give my whole bein
To kept the best thing
In my life from jettin.
Ever test me gets the best knee
So RETTEB EB TEL EB.
Neph be rest g, seph be trust me
Your vetted when you step correctly
Just a costly bit of lofty
Quips left stains on the kit next to threat me.
My preference is
To repp my bredren
To keep on pressin
My expression
Gint ebab eht evol
Ot evael htaeneb em.
Meek the dogged be
That steps with Z's beat
And rep the of the best of the ends ting
No matter if it's E's E's.
To jest is upsetting
Mess gets heavy
Unless you shed the Hsiniws connections.

NOTES:
- "RETTEB EB TEL EB" = BACKWARDS: "BE LET BE BETTER"
- "Gint ebab eht evol / Ot evael htaeneb em" = coded message about friendship misunderstood
- "Rax is best string" = publicly defending Rax against boyfriend rumors
- Multiple backwards phrases = cipher communication in public track

TRACK 8: DOING TIME
Artists: Big 9, Dame, Zed-Artist
Style: Emotional trio — three perspectives on Big 9's imprisonment
Themes: Sacrifice, eternal love, family loyalty, LGBTQ+ acceptance

[BIG 9's VERSE]
North Ends connections, trust in me bredren.
King of the mess, wing of the corrections.
25 to life.
Paying a price that most don't ever realize.
Dame you were right, but I had to rise, and fall
To make sure my little brother could see the next bright sunny day.
Be gay or bi a geeche or whatever the skys?
No matter what, this is my creed...
Took the chains never to see the lights site.
I did it for the fam.
And would do it again.

[DAME's VERSE]
It's the miss camera click from the grit of south London spit
And I'm with the one and only love, my truest knight.
25 to life just made me his wife
And I'll wait 3 x that amount to make mine...
Forever is my love for Big 9 and his fam dem is mine.

[ZED-ARTIST's VERSE]
When the moon shines and the stars do the same
The love I have for mandem stays
A howl at the moon, a love for the one that you choose.
For if 1+1 was a few and a 2+9 was four too, then love wouldn't be the same.
Life's simple not a complex equation.
Call a spade a spade, a dog a dog.

And love love.
R Kidd my blood and kin.
Doin time, or on the grind.
Crime don't stop.
Let's direct talk, instead of vexed thought.

NOTES:
- Big 9 confirms he took fall FOR K-9
- "Be gay or bi...no matter what" = LGBTQ+ acceptance as CREED
- Dame: 25 x 3 = 75 years — mathematical eternal love
- Zed: "R Kidd" = Rax identified, philosophy of simplicity

TRACK 9: RED TINGS
Artist: K-9
Style: Threat track, territorial
Themes: Violence as deterrent, NEPH/SEPH unity, mocking Academy/West End

[VERSE]
Tested death ins.
A weapons weapon straight never resten.
Bread and bredren.
It's all on red tings.
Step to the set that snarls get bled quick.
Learn a lesson.
It's chew toy ever presin.
A state of acceptance.
To be someone to defend dem.
No present dins or remanding will stop the growl grimey descendants.
Bless up.
Teeth down.
SD Neph seph.
To all dem fans at the academy.
To all dem west end posh moist rubbish preden.

NOTES:
- "Red tings" = guns, violence, blood, BUT ALSO red markings on Dogs
- "SD Neph seph" = NEPH and SEPH unity explicitly stated

TRACK 10: STRANGE STRAY (THE KENNEL CYPHER)
Artists: Chew-Toy, Dog-Prophet, K-9
Style: Cypher — three MCs trading verses
Themes: Strange Music connection, independence, Midwest + UK unity

[CHEW-TOY's VERSE]
Dreary hoes innit? The insane part of strage
Deflamed the game left Os and the Hate.
To main lane a change that a strange sane
Was playing.
This is to a veteran of a redder setter than I'm in
A monster mixed with the message of meddling
The systems pedalling.
Strange gang is heaven-sent Strange Stray evident
The Midwest and Ends enter-ment
Starts with the sedement.
Bang bang the games name
Is strange with a stray dogs range game
Boots laced
Big dogs released bragn bragn
Grit called and mandem agreed.

[DOG-PROPHET's VERSE]
Let's press the beats
Have legs movin peace
If they step the step
They suthe the streets.
Dress to the gs
Death to the skreeze
No plethora of ps
For threaten ends ees.
This one's for me
And to show them the
The independent number one the Middle of the western to see.

Bless up to the g
From the ds across the cee
The lessons turned weapons is testing the queen.

[K-9's VERSE]
Real Grime rap
Straight from the at-risks (asterisk)
Middie of the Wolves city
Number 11 givem heaven
Crease up
Laces and cuts.

SD SD Connections

Big 9 to blessing..

NOTES:
- "The Midwest and Ends enter-ment" = Kansas City (Tech N9ne) + London unity
- "Middie of the Wolves city" = Rax's lacrosse team reference
- K-9 trails off on "Big 9 to blessing.." (too emotional to finish)

TRACK 11: THE DARKEST LIGHT (TECHNICAL BLUEPRINT)
Artist: K-9
Style: Experimental, percussive, mathematical structure (FIBONACCI SEQUENCE)
Themes: Darkness as origin, technical skill display, Big 9's absence

[EPIGRAPH]
"When I was at my darkest, I never thought there would be a light."

[INTRO - Percussive notation]
Pure darkness. Poor starkness. Sure artistests.
Boom pat ta ta ta
Boom tata
Boom Tata X3

[VERSE - Alliterative cascade]
Dear parted
Tear sparkin
Near Hearted
Heartless
Clear pastor
Marked is.

Fear startin
We're barkin.
Keys NARKS SLEPT
Street Barks kept.
Street tar-gets.
BLEAK MARKS.
Think to treat
Bleed dog vets.
BLEED OUR BARS LESS.
BETTER LETTER BE
Earth Aether Recipe
OR BE BETTER TO BE ROTTEN PIECE (7).

[INTERLUDE - K-9 PURGATORY RELEASE - FIBONACCI SEQUENCE]
(1) Stop.
(2) Load up.
(3) The Glock pulled.
(5) Let loose the shots off.
(8) Popped off on the spot, ops caught me off.
(13) Got me to talk, locked up and tossed, keys dropped an lost, left to rot.
(21) Caught ten for the toes, tags and cross; the boss of the loss is the cost of the gloss and the frost on the box.

[RAPID-FIRE SECTION]
Detrapping redacting kneecapping
He's acting quit cappin quick yapping
Stitched tracking ditch backing mixed rapping exacting cist mapping wish watching shit talking piss knocking tsk wallet disc vaulted list

[EMOTIONAL CLOSE]
Big 9 Doin Time for mine
Love
Miss you
SD Connections
Ends to Ends South to Noth-end
K9 cainie kay nine?

NOTES:
- Fibonacci sequence: 1, 2, 3, 5, 8, 13, 21 syllable progression
- Proves mathematical construction of flow
- "When I was at my darkest" = K-9 finding purpose after Big 9's arrest

TRACK 12: NEWSBREAK INTERLUDE
Artists: K-9, Dame, DJ Drool
Style: Narrative interlude with world-building

[NEWS REPORT]
"...in other news the local North Ends based Public School which is linked to a gang known as the 'Stray Dogs' have been unusually active in and around Academy Plaza and have been spotted in tense verbal confrontation with the St Augustine's students. While London's finest have been asking local shops to report any crimes, they are not receiving any local help..."

[K-9 REACTION]
Bang!!!
"Seb turn that shite off, mandem told your moist prick that that noise is rubbish. Let it pass. I'm trying to record a banger"

[NARRATOR]
The wiry frame of K-9 scolded as he put back on his headphones and looked to DAME his videographer who was a og for the SDs, and the fiance to Big 9, K9s older brother who is locked in the pen for 25 to life x3 on a 3 murder charge from 2 years prior.

[K-9 RECORDING]
DAME started rolling.
"Big ups to mandem,
Another straight banger
From the ends enter mender
K-9 forever
Big 9 remand remember
SD connections
Kick the best est creed
Seph neph and streets
Let's go and test Elizz send mac the p's

Muzzle up when the dogs up to ruff
Teeth down or on the curb stomp the ground
Surrounded by my bros, called the hounds
Around those costed grounds

Those that expose the hole in the hold offs

Im crowned.
Throne, costed pounds
Rose up to town
Noses upon mounds
Of Os Gs and Sounds

Flows greeze never better now
The beats the boast boost the flow
Back the bass save the Prose
Ghost whipped the crown stole
Her Majesty's peace not at ease go sempter down

Bless her ground as the known next be crowned
Phone texts is stowed
Next below ground

NOTES:
- Confirms Fountain Incident from external news perspective
- Establishes SILENCE PROTOCOL in action (shops won't help police)
- Timeline: Big 9 arrested 2 years prior to recording

TRACK 13: THE DIALOGUE (K-9 & Zed-Artist Interlude)
Artists: K-9, Zed-Artist
Style: Comedy sketch, character interaction
Themes: Power dynamics, Zed's quiet authority

[DIALOGUE]
K9: Zed! I said to watch where you put dat logging chain.
ZEDD: "No"
K9: No? What do you mean no? Uh
ZEDD: "No..I mean no..."
[Sound of clattering]
K9: Ok ok you win....On second thought Zed keep the chain wherever you want.
ZEDD: "That was the thought."
K9: Proper. Bless up k-9. Yeah Zed you're the boss...I'm gonna smoke a fag....DJ cut the track

[PRODUCER TAG - DJ DROOL/TAGS]
K9

Dj Drool
Wags on the beat
Off the chain tings innit?
Bless up

NOTES:
- Chain = likely THE CHAIN from Zed's dragging (dark comedy with trauma object)
- "Off the chain tings" = double meaning (wild + literal chain)
- Establishes hierarchy: K-9 is Voice, but Zed is UNDERBOSS — when Zed says no, it's final

SKIT: STRAY DOGS ANTHEM
Artists: K-9, Chew-Toy, Zed
Style: Crew identity establishment

[INTRO - K-9]
"Yo, Rawhide. You got the levels set? This ain't for the radio, man. This is for the dogs on the Line. I want them West End kids to feel the bass in their teeth before they even see the trucks. Drop that soundbyte... yeah... up the tempo. Let 'em know the North Ends don't sleep. Let's go."

[VERSE 1 - K-9]
Straight out from the nitty gritty gangrenous pits
A hideous straight dangerous flick
Dangerously deranged deplorable drip
K-9 be the name
Of the chain and out the gate entangled untamed
With the stray dogs behind me we blaze
We Back the gat so get back and stay out the way
When the dogs come through Better watch what you say
It's all fun and games when the dogs are away
But like the saying goes
Every dog has its day
Stray Dogs be a barking
Stay down and pray
Better understand that shite you and motley moist meandering muck
Your mum's and pa's money is never enough
To protect you from the mischievous mutts.
Sector 4 declaring war on the right vicious beats
You tried to resist the dogs at the streets

So don't you complain when the dogs off the leash
And don't you dare scream when the dogs go to eat.

[VERSE 2 - CHEW-TOY]
To the nitty whizbang who thought it was funny to break mandems ride.
Them boys in blue who be prowling 62 and vine
You like to think tings be good and plush
But mistakes made miscalculation makes mistrust.
Credit to the dogs stray, mutts steady playing it ruff.
Now this rap shit is truly trendy
Send the flowers to mum and the Lizzie's to Mary
And to the posh kids steady acting uncanny
Know your place before the dogs get uncanny.

[VERSE 3 - ZED]
[Zed's verse - minimal, understated power]

SKIT: BIG 9'S CALL (INTERLUDE)
Setting: Phone recording, HM Prison Wormwood Scrubs

[FULL RECORDING]
AUTOMATED VOICE: You have a prepaid call from...
BIG 9: [Deep voice] Big 9.
AUTOMATED VOICE: ...an inmate at HM Prison Wormwood Scrubs. This call is subject to monitoring and recording. Press 1 to accept charges.
[Beep]
K9: [Emotional] Bruv. We got the track done. Whole pack came through.
BIG 9: [Quiet pride] Yeah? Dame told me. Said Zed went off on his verse.
K9: [Laughs] Man reversed the lyrics and everything. You know how he gets.
BIG 9: [Pause] ...You mentioned me?
K9: [Firm] Every bar, blood. Every single bar.
BIG 9: [Voice cracks slightly] K... listen. Dame you were right, but I had to rise and fall to make sure my little brother could see the next bright sunny day. Be gay or bi a geeche or whatever the skys? No matter what, this is my creed...
K9: [Trying not to cry] I know bruv, I know—
BIG 9: Took the chains never to see the lights site. I did it for the fam. And would do it again.
[Long pause]
K9: [Whispers] They're saying you should off yourself. Online, the wastemen—
BIG 9: [Cuts in, calm] And what did you say back?

K9: [Pause, then with steel] I told them about Krypto.
BIG 9: [Laughs, genuine] There's my brother. You know they used to call me Superman on the Ends?
K9: I know. That's why when you went to Wormwood, I became... well, maybe I changed when you went there. I think I ended up getting a friend.
BIG 9: [Smiling through the phone] Krypto the Superdog.
AUTOMATED VOICE: You have one minute remaining.
BIG 9: K. Listen close. I'm good in here. Dame's waiting. Mum knows the truth. The pack's still howling my name. That's more than most men get.
K9: [Choked up] We're gonna clear your name bruv. Chew Toy's got a barrister looking at—
BIG 9: [Firm but kind] K. Stop. Make the music. Protect Rax. Keep the pack together. That's the work.
AUTOMATED VOICE: Thirty seconds remaining.
BIG 9: And K?
K9: Yeah?
BIG 9: Thank you. For being Krypto when I couldn't be Superman.
K9: [Barely holding it together] Always, blood. Always.
BIG 9: Let me hear it when it drops yeah? Full volume through the speakers.
K9: [Laughs through tears] Gonna rattle Wormwood's walls bruv.
AUTOMATED VOICE: This call has ended.
[Dial tone]
[Long silence]
[Sound of someone taking a deep breath, then:]
K9: [To himself] They used to call Big 9 Superman on the Ends. The day he got popped, he became...
[Beat starts fading in]
K9: [Louder, finding his power] Well, what happens to Superman when he goes to work?

SKIT: KRYPTO'S KNIGHT (DECODED FRAGMENT)
Artist: K-9

[THE LEGEND]
They used to call Big 9 Superman on the Ends
The day he got popped, he became—
Well, what happens to Superman when he goes to work?
(Depends what work is.)
Oh right...
Well when he went to Wormwood, he wasn't Superman anymore
But more like—
Well, maybe I changed when he went to Wormwood
I think I ended up getting a friend
(Oh no...)

Yes.
(Not him... ple—)
Is that a ball? Coming through?
(It's a bird, it's a plane, it's a frog... a frog)

[BEAT DROP]
It's—It's UNDERDOGS
(There's no need to fear)
The corpse we just mauled
(Underdog is here)
Wallets and kicks, phones, wrist watches
Rings, rock, and bling
It's all shoppin' off of the kin
Of the ones who committed the vicious sin
Of disrespecting the King

[THE HUNT]
From the den to the crib
From the ends to London
The hunt begins
No safe words or Lizzie's will save the skin
Of the ones who disrespect a dog
That's scrubbed into a house with no chance
Of feelin' his love or bredren

TRACK 14: BACK THE KNIFE (SD CONNECTED)
Artists: K-9, R-Dogg-ind
Style: Multi-layered, UK→Midwest evolution
Themes: Fashion/success, philosophical depth, violence as last resort

[INTRO]
Back the knife.
K9, R-Dogg-ind.
AYO this one's for mandem.
SD connected.
Stray Dogs independent.
From the pen to the penatentery.
Remend shit.
K9 on the flow.

Beats bars for more.

[VERSE 1: THE SETUP - K-9]
FLEX WHEN DIFFERENT
THE NEXT SET DISTANT
Berest seNT skillin
VESTS AND Bills, RIMS
Suspision billed in
A BS test Most villian
West coast killin
Mess Most million beat the barman so hard
he felt it on the celling

[VERSE 2: THE COUTURE FLEX - K-9]
Fails on the score
Sells on the board
Scales on the belts on couture
Chanel on her skin tight
Chest on Lau-ren top
Att-ure
MAXED stash for sure
FAST DASH FOR SUER
CASH BACKED Entre-penure
Mast straps procured
Add a fast tax to lure
Or laugh at Bonjour
See voo do plays
Nike swish for days
Treb clipps and Archs
Text sure ripped apart

[VERSE 3: THE ATONEMENT - R-DOGG-IND]
Attornment not far from the broken
Lost stars are encoded
Supposed led off the starch vestibule and Exposed vex liar faux foes and boated
Egos fed on fows that were stolen
Showed me how far it goes and Gets sold thin
Until they get gold and

Exposure to no end
In plode when
I hold the scope in
The moment I pull the pole
And explode in the Mind of the hive mans in turn all of the swarm in tonal rhyme minded souls
Who confide in the shine of a canine nose
Up end the time and tempo
Notes teeth down or I goes
Imposing my ties to my blokes
Neither a time that I wrote
Could help you
Atone for your coal
Just pray that you don't get the rope
And know that
Your life's set in stone

[CHORUS - R-DOGG-IND & K-9]
Hell lost and exposed
Entrails are pulled and tangled
Enclosed in blood running cold
Until the stones red in blood
a stone blows throw not at home > Hone in on a lone yard in school
Yell R Kidd is not home so just go.
Back the knife and you'll advertise > Keep it up and be that the price > Actively enact the right
To sacrifice your life just as > A bastard dies
Match the hype > And disaster shines > So back that knife back to its back and try > Again when you practice time
Back that knife back that knife that night entice the knight to act as it's master's sight

TRACK 15: PROPER WICKED INNIT (THE COUTURE CYPHER)
Artists: Chew-Toy, Zed-Artist, Rax (K-9 interlude)
Style: Comedy/flex cypher with hierarchy dynamics
Themes: Fashion success, crew dynamics, elder humility, Rax's quiet power

[INTRO - CHEW TOY]
Proper wicked innit?
It's been a hot sec bruv
For all the chavs and lad out the gats.
Real raw grease scat (Laughter)

AYO mandem ain't nothin to laugh at.

Ets est at ya

SD connections
Big 9 we still reppin
So get those reps in
And flex the ten Don

Let's go

[VERSE 1: THE COUTURE FLEX - CHEW TOY]
Fails on the score
Sells on the board
Scales on the belts on couture
Chanel on her skin tight
Chest on Lau-ren top
Att-ure
MAXED stash for sure
FAST DASH FOR SUER
CASH BACKED Entre-penure
Mast straps procured
Add a fast tax to lure
Or laugh at Bonjour
See voo do plays
Nike swish for days
Treb clipps and Archs
Text sure ripped apart

[TRANSITION - CHEW TOY]
Proper wicked innit? The way I draped that?
Chew toy new boy up to block
From the northern ends to the top
Of the parliamentary bloc
Or even the castle kingdom ontop

[VERSE 2: THE ROAST - CHEW TOY]
Mandem, you can't even relate
K-9 you're too short and too late
Rax you don't get to compare
Uh Zed....Zed no that wouldn't be fair

(Wait cut....for you or for him?)

Uh that's not the point
When I rep the Dogs the hunt runs the joint
The ps and qs besides the coin
And the SD crew straight up rejoice.

(Chew....uh chew)

Bless.

(That wasn't a sneeze....)

Ah wait uh what the fuck...
Zed
Zed I was kidding

[VERSE 3: ZED'S DESTRUCTION - ZED-ARTIST]
Siiiiiigh.....
Trivial....
Send you back to remedial to remend you and set principles to a fraction of acceptable so you equal the correct-xt variable

So much enginuity wasted from your faux, jewelry to the hair cuts and boots you see.

[INTERLUDE - RAX]
Bespoke by dope hits
Flows thick from roach (toke tis)
Hocus pocus the notes (slick)
Zeros on the rightmost ledge or get toasted
From the bar that broke in
The roof of the old Benz

[OUTRO - CHEW TOY]
Proper wicked innit? Zed just schooled me proper
But that's the beauty of the pack innit
We sharpen each other
Big 9 would've laughed his arse off

NOTES:
- Chew-Toy does couture verse (corrected attribution)
- Rax does interlude (corrected from K-9)
- "Proper wicked innit?" = recurring callback, becomes SD catchphrase
- Zed demolishes Chew-Toy with academic precision

PART 2: STRAY'S BURIED VAULT
(Pre-Dogs Era + Personal / Never Performed)

TRACK S-1: SD CONNECTIONS (Big 9 & Stray)
Status: Lost 2023 Tape, Late December 2023
Artists: Big 9, Stray
Context: Pre-Dogs new wave. One of only two tracks released to 4 people (Big 9, Dame, Zed, Chew-Toy)

[INTRO - BIG 9]
SD Media, SD Connections
Straight out the NEPH Ends
Weapons be tested.
(Grins at camera)
AYO, bless up Stray.
Show mandem how the Stray Dogs play.

[VERSE 1 - STRAY]
White boy on the beat, Stray Dogs relieved
Stray hate on the bleak ends streets
Stray dons the fleece of her Majesty's
Slay on the Greeze, Strain on the Weeds
Spray on the tease, safe on the Ps and the ease
Say less please, sway next to me
Said yes please as I grep sex with ease
Plex glass for these who rep sets that be
Strepped up for moist gestures that pressed the bredren geeze.

[VERSE 2 - BIG 9]
Rack on the gat, back on the B
Stack upon stack be back in the Ds

Detach from the whack sopping skreeze who get trapped on
So strap on the D and relax on the seat.

[VERSE 3 - STRAY]
Apt on the beach, apt on the track and apt in the head companies
That say 'Stray stay stacked up with me please'
Stay say that for me
Stray splay splash hits on these.
(Slaps sweat off face, theatrical timing)
Stray slaps all the sweat, nothing's aside
Spits venom and smacks with swag as I stride
Stray Dog stay signed to the SD Pride
So step off the NEPH side and take a snub to the side—
Between the eyes or straight to the pride
Stray ate on the fly, stayed on the grime
And signed on the line as the ops run and hide
Stop swinging, sly bops splitting wire
Starting the fires and sparking suppliers
Are mandem for higher?
Ask the beat riders who pull the tracks and try to rewire
The snap sapping some ire
Strange Stray says psych, that's a swish son so:
Sore strangers sinning sty eyer sired.

[OUTRO - STRAY]
SD Connections
Stray straight, Stray Dogs steppin
Next to the bredren
Big 9 the best win
From the West Coast to the NEPH kin
My bredren bredren and West Ends ghost whippin—
Dame slays the grind
Stray stains swine with sure shots for sure.
SD Media.
Love.
(Throws up SD hand sign: two fingers/dog ears)

TRACK S-2: CHALK & CROWN (Stray & Zed)
Status: Lost 2023 Tape, Pre-Drag

Artists: Stray, Zed
Context: The other pre-Dogs track. Recorded before Zed's dragging incident.

[VERSE 1 - STRAY]
Stray on the streets
Jays on the feet
'Splay bape on the chain and bape on the jeans
Grenade tossed to toss tictactics
So git backed to Lizzies and peak.
Authentic and gleams
essentric with ease
Audio didactic
so rap is a breeze.

ZED.
breeze the gat back with Bs
Rack the track and Squeeze
And laugh at the whack Rappers caught by the scene

[VERSE 3 - ZED]
CHALK out-lined the weak
Faust caught by the Faustest EMC.
Reroute the Trouts to down the stream
Resound the cd kept on repeat.
Backmask the speak and beat the bars speed
Sample me and track the ghost through the sheet
Then at half time the creshendo the tempo and tremble at the cleft of the complexity

[VERSE 4 - STRAY]
Douse petrol on me Strike a match
If you can step to me
Tred on the Jacket is a tred on the queen

NOTES:
- "Tred on the Jacket is a tred on the queen" = single bar complete political philosophy
- "CHALK out-lined the weak / Faust caught by the Faustest EMC" = Art + Mythology + Physics fusion
- "Faustest EMC" = $E=MC^2$ + Soul-selling + MC (rapper) — three academic disciplines weaponized

NOTES:
- "phonetically wise deathed but define a god" = Stray's #1 bar — entire existence in 7 words
- "starched artist in departure" = father in uniform, dying
- "sin Miedo" = "without fear" — connects to Dog-Prophet's Oakland phrase
- This is UNPERFORMABLE: too dense, too revealing, too raw

PART 3: DOG GONE PROFIT
Dog-Prophet (Angel Reyes) Solo Album
PARALLEL TIMELINE — SD MEDIA LABEL

ALBUM: DOG GONE PROFIT
ARTIST: Dog-Prophet (Angel Reyes)
LABEL: SD Media
EXECUTIVE PRODUCER: Dame
STATUS: Vaulted (Pending Release)
CONTEXT: Parallel to main Stray Dogs timeline. Angel arrives in London from Ghost Town Oakland. ProphetFilms Stream 01 documents his journey. Features K-9, The E-Boy (Stray), Zed, and SF Beats.

TRACK 01: ARRIVAL (INTRO)
Artist: Dog-Prophet
Recorded: Live from ProphetFilms Stream 01
Audio: Ambient airport terminal sounds fading into heavy London rain and the strike of a lighter

[DOG-PROPHET]
To all the homies locked away, to Dimitri, Trey, Socks and Yay.
Straight out of Ghost Town Oakland.
Moving Os Os and Open.
(Beat Drops - Heavy Bass, Minimalist)
Yeah... Sin Miedo and ghostin' all your whips and trips be roasted toasty.
Lowkey... You thought you move different
Reality you actually snooze lippin'.
News and view trippin'
Drool be pools, so you slip in.
Snitching straight up bitchin'
Sold your soul to the game for fame and claim riches.
Early graves to deaths mistress
Life behaves to create friction.
Rest in peace to Dad, Dimitri...V. We miss him.
Rip Trey, socks, yay, Eatz....

NOTES:
- "Sin Miedo" = "without fear" — Angel's family creed (connects to Stray's vault reference)
- "Ghost Town Oakland" = Angel's origin (Bay Area connection to Stray's Midwest references)
- Dedications to the dead establish Angel's losses before he even arrives in London

TRACK 02: TECHNICAL CIPHER (FT. THE E-BOY)
Artists: Dog-Prophet, The E-Boy (Stray)
Recorded: Live from ProphetFilms Stream 01
Skit: The rhythmic clicking of a pen being tossed back and forth

[DOG-PROPHET]
Seen tragic.
Stood sticky strained and stained for peace backing.

[THE E-BOY (STRAY)]
Deep lashes.
Stone Cold Dripping that Prem pressed slacks strapping.

[DOG-PROPHET]
Defraggin' all the explos
I've known the faux faggots.

[THE E-BOY]
Stick up the ass if you think that class equals class
And cash cash stacked back out the back of a hatched back.
Wrist clasps that impacts more than the fake bling and distract.

[DOG-PROPHET]
Diss act and rack the gat and track the attraction
But Mass is not equal to Masses that can be amased and pointed at improper unity
Like the whiny rappin that Tom McDonald shit ass toxish me you wack Ronald Donald.

[THE E-BOY]
Audit the audacity of pain and prosperity
Percussion and poverty.

[DOG-PROPHET]
Preexist periodically pointed to prehistoric prodigy
Pantheon of pure perplexity.

NOTES:
- THE E-BOY = Stray. This is Stray performing under alias, cipher-partner with Prophet.
- "Mass is not equal to Masses" = physics/class warfare wordplay

- P-alliteration chain in Prophet's closer is relentless
- This confirms Stray is NOT fully silent — he raps under different names

TRACK 03: THE THRIZZ SESSION (THE LESSON)
Artists: K-9, Dog-Prophet (as SF Beats)
Produced by: SF Beats
Skit: "The Stumble" - Recorded Live at The Kennel

[K-9]
Lizz.....lizz backs the buiz...
Dog phonemic drool drip iconic...
Sip sip sippin on that nitro-glisterin...
Fire straight on the new hires thing they're a live wire
Paid to beat ride or g dive...
Bay time?
We on CAININES like a pair of new suede-on nikes with the bape lace on...
Did I s-st-stutter?
(Beat cuts abruptly)
Ho-ho-how's this?
Highlight the lyrics so they make sense
Nines times the pounds, greeze and sense.
Dedendeser than the head of the pink capped intern.
Stop it... You know you can't top rap...
Tryna get rid of k, put him like big away...
Thizzle bay .....to the bizzle lay
Skippin it sk-sk-sk scriptin it car for car
Hot to hot-wire the park lotted cars on tires on tar...
Gum jab...
(Sound of beat rewinding)

[DOG-PROPHET (AS SF BEATS)]
Fast, pass. Laced out and bad taps
Tripped up the flow and got trapped rat.
Optics check the senor holes. Cents sent census swine
Th-tho, thought they auta test mine.
Boil down the beat and debone the grime rhymes and the sun woofed binds.
Lime signed a-CIDIC flow beyond time
A-critic cali-burr scoped cold. Colder than east coast.
RICOs riding rights and road rags

Rippin rally tones and blown bass
Clone act on the coast of a gold act
Know that when the dough stags
The hunt is on when the bucks back the dear is gone.
Do ne rro fo flo, what? No mula for you hoe.
Sit back relax, like H is in ome ijo.

NOTES:
- "CANINES like a pair of new suede-on nikes with the bape lace on" = triple-layer (K-9s/canines, shoe wordplay, brand stacking as identity)
- K-9's stutter-flow is performative rhythmic disruption, not gimmick
- "Thizzle bay" = Mac Dre / Bay Area hyphy culture reference
- Prophet switches to "SF Beats" persona — Bay Area production identity
- "like H is in ome ijo" = "H is in home, hijo" — silent H in Spanish, wordplay on being at home

TRACK 04: DOG-SCRIPTURE
Artist: Dog-Prophet
Produced by: Dame - The Tunnel Video
Intro: 16 voices chanting in unison

[THE DOGS]
Amen.
(Sound of fire roaring)

[DOG-PROPHET]
Gnash gnarly grusome grunge gashes grounded in genomes.
Flip a flick of a lighters fire fixed on photos
Files and folders flash filed down to cinder
Sent in a spiral of sin silencio tripped on the met metropolitan metronome.
Shifted a crisp crip walk collided with a cuz who was curious questioning the crew
Chilled a corpse and a glass of la Croix with a shot or two.
Grime rap AT-RISK ask tricks if they ass tricked
Ask if the risk is worth the bag on the body for a smoke a of a toke of the fag...

[BEAT SWITCH - Aggressive Drill]
Dog-Law Straight from the Dog Paw cold enough to give a Bawk lock jaw.
Stop Y'all it's not a dropped ball or a detox call.

[OUTRO - Spoken over silence]

THOU SHALT NOT SNITCH.
HONOR THE DEAD.
FEAR NO EVIL.
PROTECT THE SET.
TRUST NO BITCH.
KEEP THE STEEL COLD.
WATCH THE THRONE.
NEVER FORGET HOME.
SILENCE IS GOLD.
DOG EATS DOG.

NOTES:
- 6 G-sounds deep in opening line before it breathes ("Gnash gnarly gruesome grunge gashes grounded in genomes")
- "Dog-Law" commandments at outro = faction doctrine from Stray Dogs universe
- "AT-RISK" callback to K-9's asterisk technique
- "silencio" = Spanish integration (Angel's heritage)
- The 10 commandments of Dog-Law are now canon

TRACK 05: HYDRANT HOMAGE (FT. K-9)
Artists: Dog-Prophet (as Dog-Law), K-9
Recorded: Live on Hydrant Street — The "Dog-Law" Persona
Intro: Street Ambiance, Distant Sirens, Wind on the Mic

[DOG-PROPHET (AS DOG-LAW)]
Love hunnies.
Legends ghost whip the ride.
Passed the grindless.
10 tags toes in the pine.
10 toes tagged in pine.
Tagged in the pine.
No tweaks I just hit them with that right drip
Work on the beat like I'm timeless
Anyone want my hide stuck on lifeless.
Made a call to man looked and it was Stray.
Stray called mandem fam sent over K.
Hydrant open broad day.
Two legends in the top splay.
Two legends on the play.

Score card that to your ops kay?

[K-9 (AD-LIBS)]
(SD!) (North Ends!)

[DOG-PROPHET]
Deadpan cocked the rack back vibin
Let loose the gat and you nice drip
Got holes in em now that shit priceless.
Love hunnies
Legends ghost whip the ride
Passed the ops with the slide
10 toes tagged bagged boxed in pine
Boxed in pine
1p tagged toes boxes in pine
SD Connections.
MUM Love you SF SD Chi town from the ends to the states from the states to the woods that worms call good.
Big ups brother Big 9 cuz you a real 1.
Big ups to K9 reppin that London grime.
Dame Dame you a beast.
SD Media.
(Outro: Dap sound, walking away footsteps)

NOTES:
- "Made a call to man looked and it was Stray / Stray called mandem fam sent over K" = SD network chain in action
- "from the states to the woods that worms call good" = Wormwood Scrubs (Big 9's prison)
- "SF SD Chi town" = San Francisco + Stray Dogs + Chicago — all connections mapped
- K-9's ad-libs are minimal but mark territory
- "10 toes tagged in pine" = dead in a coffin (pine box), repeated for emphasis

TRACK 06: VOLKOV LEGACY (THE BENEDICTION)
Artists: Dog-Prophet (Angel Reyes), Zed (The Underboss)
Produced by: Angel Reyes & Dame
Intro: Phone Call Recording — Pitch Shifted/Reverbed/Distorted

[LUX (DISTORTED)]
"Mijo. It's your madre... Sin Miedo, papi. Be safe mi amor. Love mijo."

(Sound of a choked sob)

[ANGEL (DISTORTED)]
"I ain't safe. None of this is safe. I'm wearing a target. I'm carrying a ghost... [REDACTED] Reyes Volkov... Dog-Prophet... about to be debut."

[BEAT DROPS - Mournful Piano Loop, Slow Tempo]

[ZED (THE UNDERBOSS)]
Zed. Last to the language last to the dead.
Rest to all the bredren sitting in the pen.
Rest to the fallen who don't get up from bed.
Had their lights cut out way before the utility rent.
This is for all the family's and friends that lost decent men, women, kids....brothers, sisters....kin.
Zed, Zealously Dangerous rhymes.
Not trying to embrace the crime.
Simply trying to protect mine.
Death defying and kept in prime.
Mimed the complex vet tech the n9ne.
Bless to Big 9 and Grime for showing bredren there's a light.
Never lose sight stand up for the right to fight against injustice from anyone not just set reps.
But vests, complex oppression.
Grime rap straight from the *
Straight to the masses at mass on Sunday priests be clappin.
To all the people who Rico Said
We gonna catch them and bled them to dead.
To all the people who never get the help they desperately need.
To my bredren.
To my ops.
To my mums, pops. My boss.
R Kidd my last friend.
Go get the lavish - his you deserve spread the word let the voice be heard.
SD Connections Ends to Ends 1 take.
(Outro: The sound of a heavy metal door slamming shut)

NOTES:
- "Reyes Volkov" = Angel's full heritage (Latin + Russian — connects to Zed's "Russian student" cover)
- Zed's verse is the emotional anchor of the ENTIRE album
- "Not trying to embrace the crime / Simply trying to protect mine" = thesis statement
- "R Kidd my last friend" = Rax identified
- "Mimed the complex vet tech the n9ne" = Tech N9ne reference embedded

- "Grime rap straight from the *" = asterisk technique (at-risk) now used by Zed too
- Mother's phone call ("Sin Miedo, papi") connects to Stray's vault and Angel's Oakland roots
- The door slam ending = prison door / coffin lid / door closing on innocence

TRACK 07: DOG GONE PROFIT (TITLE TRACK)
Artist: Dog-Prophet
Style: Declaration track, pulpit rap, literary horror fusion
Themes: Oakland roots, linguistic revolution, Poe references, street ministry, the paradox of prophecy and profit

[DOG-PROPHET]
It's Dog-Prophet from the O-ast town Projects.
SD Connections
From out West in fo no fo nem

Prophesied but not Bureaucratized
Fuck the ops, cops and tell tale
Pure thought revise

Beat beat beat
Lost under the floorboards
Someone's at the door (scoreboard score)
The the the beats still beating
The sheep's still bleating
The pastor is at the window and his eyes started bleeding

A new era of linguistics
Beyond the scene or rap gimmicks
Below the dirt and oil
Way down to the earth core
Where the center of the most wicked soul toils

I am the beat reverend
I teach the streets penmanship
I speak elite when I spit.
The gs and the communities see devotion
Raps holy Oathman
Dog-Prophet on the Note is a testament
To the will of the rap game

The world knows my name
And while I shall profit yes
The world is taught to sin

NOTES:
- "O-ast town" = Oakland / Ghost Town — origin stamp on the title track
- "fo no fo nem" = 4 no 4 nem — Chicago drill phrase adopted, mapping the cross-continental network (Oakland → Chicago → London)
- "Beat beat beat / Lost under the floorboards" = EDGAR ALLAN POE — "The Tell-Tale Heart" direct reference. The beat is the guilty heart, the music won't let the sin stay buried
- "The the the beats still beating / The sheep's still bleating / The pastor is at the window and his eyes started bleeding" = Triple repetition mirrors Poe's obsessive narrator. Sheep/pastor/bleeding = religious corruption imagery. The shepherd watches his flock but is destroyed by what he sees.
- "Below the dirt and oil / Way down to the earth core / Where the center of the most wicked soul toils" = Dante's Inferno structure — descending through layers to find the worst evil at the center
- "I am the beat reverend / I teach the streets penmanship" = Angel's mission statement — he's not just rapping, he's TEACHING. Penmanship = writing craft, not just bars
- "Dog-Prophet on the Note is a testament" = NOTE (music) + TESTAMENT (biblical) = the album itself is scripture
- "And while I shall profit yes / The world is taught to sin" = THE TITLE DECODED — "Dog Gone Profit" isn't just a pun. It's the paradox: his prophecy profits him, but the world he prophesies ABOUT is being taught to sin. The profit and the sin are inseparable. He profits FROM documenting sin. The title track IS the thesis.
- This is the album's philosophical center — Track 01 was arrival, Tracks 02-06 were the journey, Track 07 is the SERMON

TRACK 08: DOG ON SERMON (OUTRO)
Artist: Dog-Prophet (Angel Reyes)
Style: Rage sermon → grief collapse → mother dialogue → suicide confession → dedication
Themes: Rejection of materialism, loyalty as only currency, father's murder, 2020 losses, maternal pain, inherited violence, grief as fuel, suicide attempt, survival as debt
Production: Raw/unproduced — single-take breakdown at the mic. No cuts. No edits. The stumbles stay.

[DOG-PROPHET — THE SERMON]
And Dog said take thy pound pence and notes of worldly cravings cast them aside for Dog only truly craves your loyalty.
Fuck flexes, fuck west ends, fuck the Fame game as a set, a religion and a fan base and if you choose to follow fuck you too.

Die slow all y'all thought it was just about Lizzie's then you had to go and run your mouths

Muzzle flashes teethdwn ground bone straight ashes to ashes.

Fuck you all y'all moth re fucker my dogs make sure. All mandem don't grow all you other to uckers

[THE BENEDICTION]
SD CONNECTIONS
Sets bless the reverend
West to East North to South connections from annex to anext kin

Here come Dog-Prophet and bredren

[THE COLLAPSE — Angel breaks through the Prophet]
The final nail in the coffin and that's it
Homie Trey rip 2020 big man bet
Then in 2026 how bad can it get
Your dad is gone 70 shots to the chest dead

Uhhhhj
Are you serious pops who taught me to shot the Glock isn't here wit us
Dropped by some fake ass opps in a unhonorous way.
Dad deserved better but Everytime I rhyme my eyes get wetter and wetter
Wetter than that of the old ex foe of the west Berlin wall
Drenched in redder than a dead bread setter
No more running pipes through my mom's bedr.
Life severed gone but still remembered
Like the time you taught me to flow like my betters to scald mics and blow pipes off in the night life

[THE DENIAL — Angel speaking, not rapping]
That can't be the right sight?
Must be a lie trick of the night's bite?

[LUX — spoken, present, not a recording]
(No mijo he he's gone)

[ANGEL — the son, not the prophet]
Ma - ma - mom....Lux you cant say he faded you promised V would always be the safest.
He said he would take me to create fame
That we would be th-

[LUX]

That's enough mi amor

[ANGEL — THE SUICIDE CONFESSION]
Don't you want more? God don't you want more should've taken my life too while I was on the floor seizen forced belimic purely cuz my pops had rated 70 demons
So I ate 72 the red green and blues.
Downed it with a glass of vod.
The stuff v kept in the garage.

[ANGEL — THE SURVIVAL]
I'm lucky to live aday
Dog you blessed me with your name, led me to the game that would make your name the same as

[ANGEL — THE DEDICATION]
Moms mine Dames and yours
V Reyes Volkov from yours.

NOTES:

THE PERSONA SHATTERS. Dog-Prophet, Dog-Law, SF Beats — all the masks come off. This is Angel Reyes, son of a murdered father, crying at the microphone.

SECTION 1 — THE SERMON:
- "And Dog said" = Dog replaces God. The Stray Dogs creed IS the religion. Loyalty is the only sacrament.
- "Fuck flexes, fuck west ends, fuck the Fame game as a set, a religion and a fan base" = Renounces EVERYTHING the previous tracks built. The couture, the connections, the clout. None of it matters. Track 07 was "I am the beat reverend." Track 08 is "fuck all of it, my dad is dead."
- "Muzzle flashes teethdwn ground bone straight ashes to ashes" = Dogs' philosophy weaponized and collapsed into a death image. The muzzle isn't a dog's mouth anymore — it's a gun barrel.

SECTION 2 — THE COLLAPSE:
- "Homie Trey rip 2020" = Timeline confirmed. Trey died in 2020 (dedicated on Track 01). Angel's been carrying this for 6 years.
- "Your dad is gone 70 shots to the chest dead" = FATHER'S MURDER REVEALED. 70 shots. Not a fight. An execution. An overkill. A message killing. This explains EVERYTHING: the flight from Oakland, the "target," the "Sin Miedo" creed. His father was killed in a way designed to terrorize.
- "Uhhhhj" = The sound of a man breaking in real time. Not a lyric. A human being losing composure. The most honest syllable on the album.
- "unhonorous" = Not a real word. There IS no word for how his father died. Angel invents grammar when language fails — same technique as Stray's "deathed."

- "No more running pipes through my mom's bedr." = CUTS OFF. Can't finish "bedroom." The truncation IS the trauma.

SECTION 3 — THE DENIAL:
- "That can't be the right sight? / Must be a lie trick of the night's bite?" = Angel reverts to CHILD logic. Bargaining. This can't be real. The rhyme scheme stays because rapping is the only structure holding him together — take away the rhyme and he's just a kid who lost his dad.

SECTION 4 — LUX ENTERS LIVE:
- "(No mijo he he's gone)" = THIS IS NOT A RECORDING. This is not the pitched phone call from Track 06. Lux is IN THE ROOM. She is present. She is telling her son his father is dead — either in real time or in a memory so vivid it plays like present tense. The parentheses aren't production notation — they're Angel hearing his mother's voice inside his own breakdown.

SECTION 5 — THE SON SPEAKS:
- "Ma - ma - mom....Lux" = He can't decide what to call her. The dashes are stuttered attempts. "Ma" (child), "mom" (American), "Lux" (her NAME — the moment he calls his mother by her first name is the moment the parent-child relationship inverts. He's not her child asking for comfort. He's a person confronting another person about a broken promise.)
- "you promised V would always be the safest" = V = the father. Angel's father's name started with V. "Reyes Volkov" — V is Volkov. The father's name is finally spoken, not as a surname on a track credit, but as a person who was promised safety and wasn't safe.
- "He said he would take me to create fame / That we would be th-" = CUTS OFF AGAIN. Can't finish. "That we would be th-" — together? the best? the ones who made it? Whatever the father promised, Angel can't say it because saying it makes the broken promise real.
- "That's enough mi amor" = Lux stops him. Not cruelly. A mother who knows her son is about to spiral past the point of return. She's heard this before. She knows where it goes.

SECTION 6 — THE SUICIDE CONFESSION:
- "Don't you want more? God don't you want more" = Addressed to Lux, to God, to himself, to V, to everyone. The question isn't rhetorical. He genuinely doesn't understand why he's still alive and his father isn't.
- "should've taken my life too while I was on the floor seizen" = ANGEL ATTEMPTED SUICIDE. He was on the floor seizing.
- "forced belimic purely cuz my pops had rated 70 demons" = "Belimic" = bulimic. He forced himself to vomit — but not from an eating disorder. He swallowed pills. "Rated 70 demons" = his father's 70-shot execution attracted 70 demons, and Angel tried to eat more than 70 to match.
- "So I ate 72 the red green and blues" = 72 PILLS. Red, green, and blue — different medications. More than the 70 shots that killed his father. He tried to OUT-DIE his dad. The math is deliberate. 70 shots killed V. Angel swallowed 72 pills. He tried to take 2 more than what killed his father.
- "Downed it with a glass of vod" = Vodka. Mixed with 72 pills.

- "The stuff v kept in the garage" = V's vodka. His FATHER'S alcohol. Angel used his dead father's own liquor to try to follow him. The garage = where V kept his things. Angel went to his father's space to die in his father's way, with his father's drink.

THIS IS THE DARKEST MOMENT IN THE ENTIRE SD MEDIA UNIVERSE.

SECTION 7 — THE SURVIVAL:
- "I'm lucky to live aday" = He survived. "Aday" = a day, but also "today" compressed. Every day since is borrowed time.
- "Dog you blessed me with your name" = "Dog" = V. The father IS the dog. Dog-Prophet isn't named after the Stray Dogs. He's named after his father. V was the original dog. Angel inherited the name, the creed, and the mission.
- "led me to the game that would make your name the same as" = CUTS OFF A THIRD TIME. Can't finish. "The same as" — famous? legendary? immortal? The father's name will be the same as what? Whatever Angel was going to say, he can't, because saying it would mean the mission is complete, and if the mission is complete, he has no reason to keep going.

SECTION 8 — THE DEDICATION:
- "Moms mine Dames and yours" = Three women. Mom (Lux) is mine (Angel's). Dame is (SD Media's/Big 9's). And yours — addressed to V. "Yours" = whoever V loved, whoever V left behind beyond Lux. Or "yours" = the world's. The women carry everything.
- "V Reyes Volkov from yours" = THE FATHER'S FULL NAME. V Reyes Volkov. The album ends with the dead man's name. Not Dog-Prophet. Not Angel. Not SD Media. The last word on Dog Gone Profit is the name of the man who is dog gone. V Reyes Volkov. From yours. From whatever world claimed him.

ALBUM ARC COMPLETE:
- Track 01: ARRIVAL — Angel lands in London carrying the dead
- Track 02: TECHNICAL CIPHER — He finds a voice partner (Stray/E-Boy)
- Track 03: THE THRIZZ SESSION — He meets K-9, proves himself in the session
- Track 04: DOG-SCRIPTURE — He writes the new commandments
- Track 05: HYDRANT HOMAGE — He earns his place in the pack
- Track 06: VOLKOV LEGACY — He reveals his name and lineage
- Track 07: DOG GONE PROFIT — He delivers the sermon from the pulpit
- Track 08: DOG ON SERMON — The sermon breaks him. The prophet is human. The album ends not with a bar but with a dead man's name.

THE THREE TRUNCATIONS:
1. "bedr." — can't say what happened to his mother's bedroom
2. "That we would be th-" — can't say what his father promised they'd become
3. "make your name the same as" — can't say what the legacy amounts to

Three moments where language fails. Three wounds that won't close. Three words that Angel Reyes will spend the rest of his life trying to finish.

TRACK 09: CUT THE DEMONS OUT (SCRAP'S SONG)
Artist: Dog-Prophet (Angel Reyes)
Written as: "ANGEL HOPE" — credited to DOG PROFIT
Style: Dual-perspective confession → interview interludes → healing bridge
Themes: Radical mercy, survivor's guilt, self-forgiveness, the stray dog as savior, dual identity, the inability to save yourself
Production: SF Beats baseline underneath Scraps' raw recorded confession audio. Single take. No punches.
Context: Angel hears Scraps tell the story of the stray dog that saved him. He sees himself in every word. This is what came out. Track 08 was the poison. Track 09 is the cure.
Featuring: Scraps (interview dialogue, not rapping)

[HOOK — SCRAPS' RECORDED VOICE]
PEOPLE LOSE THE MOST

[VERSE 1 — ANGEL (as himself)]
What good is the pavement if it's pouring rain
What good is the trenches if your born the same
What good are people if no person is safe.
Let me take a sec to explain

All my life I had expectations to strive to.
From picking up packages to being the crafty kid who'd make a pipe bomb and send it to school to avoid the math quizzes.

(Beat drops half a step. A dark laugh underneath.)

(Math quizzes?)

I'm emotionally charged mentally scarred and really didn't wanna deal with why the square root of the hypotenuse is the defining factor of a triage.

Ok I get it it's a little obsessive to send a bomb for a quiz but.
This isn't a test, I've been with the sets
I've been out on the pavement and been blessing men

[CHORUS]
PEOPLE LOSE THE MOST
What good is the pavement if it's pouring rain
What good is the trenches if your born the same
What good are people if no person is safe.

[INTERVIEW — PART ONE]
(The beat cuts. Just room tone.)

DOG PROFIT: You said the dog just... sat with you.
SCRAPS: Yeah. Didn't bark. Didn't run. Just sat down next to me like it already knew.
DOG PROFIT: Where were you?
SCRAPS: Alley off Third. It was raining. I had nowhere to be and I wasn't planning on going anywhere. You know what I mean.
DOG PROFIT: How long did it stay?
SCRAPS: All night. I woke up and it was still there. Just looking at me like — like I owed it something. Like showing up was the least I could do.
DOG PROFIT: That ever happen to you before? Someone just... staying?
SCRAPS: No. Not once.
(Silence. Dog Profit writes something down. Crosses it out. Writes it again.)
DOG PROFIT: Me neither.

[VERSE 2 — DOG PROPHET (as Scraps / as himself)]
(He raps as both. The line between them is intentional. It doesn't close.)

What do I get
An ounce of respect
Only to turn around and find trouble ahead.

Shedded my debt
And paid myself back
Only for you to write me a check

How's it possible
How is it logical

For you to put an obstacle in front of your hospital

I don't get it
Its a blessing for sure
With all due respect.

If I was in your shoes
I would be dead

[CHORUS]
PEOPLE LOSE THE MOST
What good is the pavement if it's pouring rain
What good is the trenches if your born the same
What good are people if no person is safe.

[INTERVIEW — PART TWO]

SCRAPS: That's me in there.
DOG PROFIT: Yeah.
SCRAPS: And you.
DOG PROFIT: Yeah.
SCRAPS: The part about the shoes. If I was in your shoes I would be dead. That's real?
DOG PROFIT: I looked at myself the way I look at people who need saving and I thought — I wouldn't have done it. I would've kept walking.
SCRAPS: But you didn't.
DOG PROFIT: I didn't have a choice. The dog didn't give me one either, I guess. That's what you said, right? It just sat there like showing up was the least you could do.
SCRAPS: I was so angry when it stayed. I didn't want a witness.
DOG PROFIT: I know that feeling exactly.
SCRAPS: What changed for you?
DOG PROFIT: I stopped trying to black out everything that scared me. Started cutting the other thing instead.
SCRAPS: The demons.
DOG PROFIT: The demons. Yeah.
SCRAPS: Who showed you how?
DOG PROPHET: Someone who stayed.

[BRIDGE / OUTRO — ANGEL]
What if we stop the self inflicted pain
Forgiveness is something I find hard to reconcile about

It's not the reason I like to scream and shout
I like to burn the clout
I like to earn the doubt

I didn't expect a love from the fam that
I would normally gouge
I would nearly bout
I would Black them out
Just for being themselves
When I was scared full in doubt
I was crashing out
I was bashing hounds

I cut the demons out
Cut the demons out

Showed me how to cut the demons out
So I love the person I've become
When I cut the demons out
Love that I can be myself
That I can free guilt
That I can see my smile

(Beat fades. The Kennel is quiet. Scraps nods once. That's enough.)

NOTES:

THE DUAL CONFESSION. Angel raps AS Scraps AND as himself simultaneously. "If I was in your shoes, I would be dead" means: if the old Angel met the broken Angel at the garage with 72 pills, he would have let himself die. If the old Harper met the broken Scraps, he would have finished the job. Neither boy had the capacity for self-forgiveness. They had to be saved by someone who stayed.

THE INTERVIEW AS THERAPY. The interludes aren't skits. Dog Profit interviews Scraps the way a documentarian would, but every question is really for himself. "That ever happen to you before? Someone just... staying?" / "No. Not once." / "Me neither." Two confessions of total abandonment in six words.

"I WAS SO ANGRY WHEN IT STAYED. I DIDN'T WANT A WITNESS." Scraps describing the stray dog. Also Angel describing everyone who tried to help after V's murder. Mercy enrages people who believe they deserve to die. The dog's crime was refusing to leave.

"SOMEONE WHO STAYED." The final answer. Who showed you how to cut the demons out? Not a name. Not a program. Not God. Someone who stayed. That's Big 9 from prison. Dame at the mixing board. K-9 sitting in silence. Zed handing chalk. The stray in the alley. Staying is the only act that heals.

TRACK 08 → TRACK 09. Track 08 is poison — 70 shots, 72 pills, truncated words, dead father's vodka. Track 09 is the antidote. Not because the poison is neutralized but because Angel discovers he can process someone ELSE'S trauma and accidentally process his own. Scraps is the mirror. The song is the medicine.

SCRAPS' NOD. "Scraps nods once. That's enough." No tears. No hug. No speech. A nod between two people who should be dead and aren't.

REVISED FINAL ALBUM ARC:
- Track 01: ARRIVAL — Angel lands carrying the dead
- Track 02: TECHNICAL CIPHER — Finds a voice partner (Stray/E-Boy)
- Track 03: THE THRIZZ SESSION — Meets K-9, proves himself
- Track 04: DOG-SCRIPTURE — Writes the new commandments
- Track 05: HYDRANT HOMAGE — Earns his place in the pack
- Track 06: VOLKOV LEGACY — Reveals his name and lineage
- Track 07: DOG GONE PROFIT — Delivers the sermon
- Track 08: DOG ON SERMON — The sermon breaks him. The prophet is human.
- Track 09: CUT THE DEMONS OUT — By saving Scraps, he saves himself. The album ends with a smile.

PART 5: DOG-PROPHET PLOTLINES FOR THE DROP

THE ANGEL REYES NARRATIVE ARC

Angel Reyes (Dog-Prophet) is a Bay Area MC from Ghost Town, Oakland — Chicano/Russian heritage ("Reyes Volkov"). His mother Lux raised him under the family creed "Sin Miedo" (without fear). He lost his father, lost friends (Dimitri, Trey, Socks, Yay, Eatz), and arrived in London carrying grief, talent, and a camera (ProphetFilms).

PLOTLINE 1: THE OAKLAND EXODUS
What happened: Angel fled Oakland after a series of losses — his father's death, friends killed or locked up, RICO investigations closing in on his circle. He wasn't charged, but he was adjacent. The "target" on his back is real — both from the streets and from federal attention.
Album evidence: Track 01 (dedications to the dead), Track 06 (Lux's phone call, "I ain't safe")
Story potential: What specifically drove Angel to LONDON? Who connected him to SD Media? The "Sin Miedo" creed suggests a family with roots in resistance — possibly cartel-adjacent, possibly political refugees, possibly both. The Volkov surname suggests Russian connection (his father's side?) which mirrors Zed's fake "Russian student" identity. Was this coincidence or did someone broker the connection?

PLOTLINE 2: THE PROPHETFILMS DOCUMENTATION
What happened: Angel doesn't just rap — he films everything. ProphetFilms Stream 01 is both an artistic project and a survival mechanism. If something happens to him, the footage exists.
Album evidence: Tracks 01, 02, 05 all marked "Recorded Live from ProphetFilms"
Story potential: ProphetFilms becomes SD Media's visual arm. Dame is already the videographer — does she mentor Angel? Or does Angel's documentary approach conflict with Dame's curated aesthetic? ProphetFilms Stream 01 is the album's frame narrative, but what's on Streams 02, 03, etc.? Are there unreleased streams that captured things that shouldn't have been filmed?

PLOTLINE 3: THE E-BOY CIPHER
What happened: Stray performs on Track 02 as "The E-Boy" — this means Stray is NOT fully silent. He raps under aliases when the context is right. The cipher format (trading bars back and forth) suggests intimacy and trust between Prophet and Stray.
Album evidence: Track 02 (Technical Cipher)
Story potential: How did Angel and Stray connect? Stray is supposedly silent/withdrawn, yet here he's trading bars with a newcomer from Oakland. Did Big 9 broker this connection before his arrest? Is Stray drawn to Angel because they share grief (both lost fathers)? The E-Boy alias protects Stray's identity while letting him rap — who else knows The E-Boy is Stray? If this leaks, it changes everything about Stray's perceived silence.

PLOTLINE 4: THE DOG-LAW PERSONA
What happened: Angel creates "Dog-Law" — a street enforcer identity distinct from the philosophical "Dog-Prophet." On Track 05, he raps AS Dog-Law while on Hydrant Street with K-9.
Album evidence: Track 04 (Dog-Law commandments), Track 05 (Dog-Law persona on the street)
Story potential: Dog-Law is Angel's contribution to Dogs' mythology. The 10 commandments of Dog-Law (Thou Shalt Not Snitch, Honor the Dead, etc.) become faction doctrine. Does this sit well with Snout, who manages the existing "Silence" protocol? Is Dog-Law an elevation of existing rules, or is Angel overstepping as a newcomer? K-9's minimal ad-libs on Track 05 could read as endorsement OR as K-9 being cautious about a new voice claiming authority.

PLOTLINE 5: THE VOLKOV CONNECTION
What happened: Angel's full name is [REDACTED] Reyes Volkov. The Russian surname mirrors Zed's "Russian student" cover identity at NEPH. Zed's verse on Track 06 is the emotional anchor of the album.
Album evidence: Track 06 (Angel reveals Volkov name, Zed delivers benediction)
Story potential: Is the Volkov connection coincidence or design? Did someone (Dame? Snout? Big 9?) recruit Angel specifically because his Russian heritage could reinforce Zed's cover? If Alistair Delarusso ever meets Angel and hears the Volkov name, does it validate or expose the "Russian student" fiction? This is a narrative time bomb.

PLOTLINE 6: THE VAULTED STATUS

What happened: The album is complete but VAULTED — pending release. Someone made the decision not to drop it.
Story potential: WHY is it vaulted? Possibilities:
1. Legal: RICO references on Track 06 are too specific. Federal attention on Angel's Oakland circle could extend to SD Media if the album drops.
2. Safety: Angel's "target" is real. Dropping the album publicly identifies his location (London) and his associates (SD Media, K-9, Stray).
3. Strategic: Dame is waiting for the right moment. Maybe she's holding it until Big 9's appeal, or until after the Fountain Incident fallout settles.
4. Stray: The E-Boy feature exposes Stray's voice to anyone who recognizes it. If Stray doesn't want to be known as an active MC, this album threatens his anonymity.
5. Angel's choice: Maybe Angel himself pulled it. The Lux phone call on Track 06 is raw — his mother begging him to be safe while he's about to debut into a world of gang affiliations and RICO talk. Maybe he heard it back and couldn't release it.

PLOTLINE 7: THE SF BEATS IDENTITY
What happened: On Track 03, Dog-Prophet performs AS "SF Beats" — a Bay Area producer persona. K-9 raps over his production.
Story potential: Angel is building a multi-identity structure similar to how Stray uses aliases. Dog-Prophet (the philosopher), Dog-Law (the enforcer), SF Beats (the producer). This mirrors SD Media's approach where identity is fluid and protective. But it also raises a question: who is the REAL Angel? Is he losing himself in personas, or is this how he survives — never being one thing long enough to be targeted?

PLOTLINE 8: THE CROSS-CONTINENTAL BRIDGE
What happened: The album maps a geographic network — Oakland → San Francisco → Chicago → London → Wormwood Scrubs. Track 05 explicitly names "SF SD Chi town from the ends to the states from the states to the woods that worms call good."
Story potential: SD Media is no longer a local London operation. With Angel's arrival, it becomes international. This is both an asset (global reach, harder to shut down) and a liability (more jurisdiction issues, more exposure). The Strange Music connection (Tech N9ne, Kansas City) already existed through Big 9 — now Angel adds the West Coast pipeline. If SD Media ever gets investigated, the cross-continental nature makes it a federal matter, not just Metropolitan Police.

RELEASE STRATEGY: FREEING THE DROP

OPTION A: FULL DROP — "SIN MIEDO"
Release the album as-is. Title the campaign "Sin Miedo" (without fear). Angel's mother's creed becomes the marketing hook. Risk level: HIGH. Reward: Establishes Dog-Prophet as a legitimate artist and SD Media as international. The E-Boy feature stays buried in the tracklist — casual listeners won't know it's Stray.

OPTION B: REDACTED DROP — "DOG GONE PROFIT [CENSORED]"
Release with Track 06 heavily redacted (the REDACTED in Angel's real name stays redacted, RICO references removed). The E-Boy is credited but not identified. Lux's phone call is pitched beyond recognition. Risk level: MEDIUM. Reward: Album drops without exposing anyone, but loses emotional impact.

OPTION C: PROPHETFILMS VISUAL DROP
Don't release the album as music. Release ProphetFilms Stream 01 as a FILM — a documentary about Angel's arrival in London, with the music as soundtrack. The visual context gives deniability ("it's art, it's documentary, it's not a gang manifesto"). Risk level: LOW-MEDIUM. Reward: Builds Angel's brand as filmmaker/artist, positions SD Media as a creative collective rather than just a rap label. Dame would love this — it's HER medium.

OPTION D: THE LEAK
The album "accidentally" surfaces online. No official release. No one claims responsibility. It builds underground buzz. SD Media can deny involvement while benefiting from the exposure. Risk level: CHAOTIC. Reward: Street credibility. The vaulted-then-leaked narrative becomes part of the mythology.

THE WORLD REACTS: DOG GONE PROFIT HITS THE STREETS

THE DOGS (THE 64)

K-9's Reaction: Mixed. Proud that SD Media is going international, but uneasy. Angel showed up from Oakland, got a feature with K-9, got Zed on the closing track, and now has a 7-track project that positions HIM as the voice of the label's next chapter. K-9 is THE Voice. That's his title. Hearing Angel call himself "the beat reverend" and "I teach the streets penmanship" — K-9 respects the bars but feels territorial. He won't say it out loud. He'll just go harder on his next track. The stutter-flow on Track 03 was K-9 at his most playful — but hearing the finished album back, K-9 realizes Angel kept the stumble in. Was that tribute or exposure? K-9's ad-libs on Track 05 were minimal for a reason — he was observing, not co-signing fully. After hearing the full project, K-9 tells Dame: "It's cold. But man's moving fast for a new dog."

Zed's Reaction: Silent approval. Zed gave Angel the benediction on Track 06. That doesn't happen lightly. Zed heard something in Angel that reminded him of himself — carrying dead weight, wearing masks, speaking in code. But Zed is also calculating. Angel's "Reyes Volkov" name on the album is dangerous — it mirrors Zed's Russian cover too closely. If anyone at the Academy hears both a "Russian student at NEPH" AND a "Volkov" on an SD Media album, questions get asked. Zed pulls Angel aside after the first listen: "The name. Change it or bury it. I don't care which. But it can't live on a track and live in a school at the same time." Angel pushes back. Zed doesn't repeat himself. The tension sits.

Rax's Reaction: Genuinely excited. Rax doesn't have the territorial ego K-9 has — he sees Angel as proof that SD Media is REAL, that it reaches beyond the ends. Rax is the one who shares it first, playing Track 03 (The Thrizz Session) in the St. Augustine's common room on his phone speaker, just loud enough to make Nala look up. When Alistair asks what that noise is, Rax grins: "Culture, bruv. You wouldn't get it." Rax texts K-9 after: "The Prophet track is hard. You sound good on Track 03 fam." K-9 reads it, doesn't reply for two hours.

Chew-Toy's Reaction: Strategic concern. As Dame's successor and the Dogs' operational manager, Chew-Toy thinks in logistics. The album names real people (Dimitri, Trey, Socks, Yay), references RICO, mentions Wormwood Scrubs, and maps a network from Oakland to Chicago to London. This is an evidence file disguised as art. Chew-Toy goes to Snout: "The Prophet album. It's good. It's also a prosecution exhibit if the Met ever pulls the trigger on us." Snout listens, nods, and says nothing — which is how Snout says he agrees.

Big 9's Reaction (from Wormwood): Dame plays him the album over the phone, holding it to the speaker. Big 9 listens to all 7 tracks without speaking. When it ends, he says: "The kid from Oakland. He's real." Pause. "But tell him to take my name out his mouth until I say he can put it there." Big 9 respects Angel but hasn't blessed him directly. Being mentioned on Track 05 ("Big ups brother Big 9 cuz you a real 1") without Big 9's explicit permission is a breach of protocol. It's not hostile — it's hierarchy. You don't namecheck the founder until the founder says you can. Dame relays the message. Angel, to his credit, doesn't argue. He just nods: "Entendido."

Dame's Reaction: This is HER project. She executive-produced it. She rolled camera on ProphetFilms. She mixed the Lux phone call on Track 06. Dame hears the finished product and knows two things simultaneously: (1) this is the best-produced SD Media project yet, and (2) it cannot drop right now. The Fountain Incident just happened. Police are watching the Plaza. The news already reported on Dogs' "unusual activity." Dropping an album that maps SD Media's international network, features an Oakland fugitive-adjacent MC, and includes Dog-Law commandments would be pouring petrol on a fire. Dame vaults it. Angel doesn't understand. Dame looks at him: "I'm not protecting the album. I'm protecting you. And K. And everyone on that tape. When it's time, it drops. Not before." Angel respects Dame more after this conversation than he did recording with her.

Snout's Reaction: Snout doesn't listen to music. Snout listens to implications. He has someone transcribe the lyrics. He reads them like a federal filing. Track 04's Dog-Law commandments concern him — not because they're wrong, but because they're WRITTEN DOWN. The Dogs' code has always been oral, passed down, never documented. Angel just carved it into a track. If this album surfaces, the code isn't secret anymore. Snout's verdict to Dame: "The boy writes like a witness. Teach him to write like a soldier."

THE ACADEMY (ST. AUGUSTINE'S)

Alistair Delarusso's Reaction: Doesn't hear the album directly — but hears ABOUT it. West End kids are talking about a new SD Media project featuring someone from America. Alistair's response is institutional contempt: "They're importing their dysfunction now. Lovely." He brings it up at a Prefect meeting as evidence that the Plaza situation is escalating. Recommends increasing Prefect patrols. What Alistair DOESN'T know is that Rax — sitting in the same meeting in his navy blazer — has the album on his phone and has already memorized Track 05.

Nala Regan's Reaction: Obsessed. Not with the music — with the GOSSIP. A new American MC connected to SD Media? Is he cute? Is he single? Does he know K-9? Is he K-9's new boyfriend? (Nala's "K-9 and Rax are dating" theory has now expanded to include Angel.) She starts a group chat titled "DOG PROPHET????" with her Year 13 friends. She finds ProphetFilms on whatever platform it surfaces on and watches Stream 01 on repeat, pausing on any frame that shows K-9 or Rax in the background. She doesn't understand a single bar, but she screenshots Angel's face and posts it with "who is this and why is he fit."

Prefect Leo's Reaction: Sees the album as ammunition. Leo has been trying to build a case to get scholarship kids (read: anyone connected to NEPH) expelled from St. Augustine's. An SD Media album featuring violent content, drug references, and anti-establishment rhetoric — produced by people connected to students at his school? Leo starts documenting. He's building a file. He doesn't know he's building a file on Rax's best friend, Zed's twin brother's circle, and the underboss of a 64-member gang. Leo thinks he's fighting delinquency. He's poking a wolf den with a ruler.

LUX (ANGEL'S MOTHER)

Lux hears the album because Angel sends it to her. He sends the whole thing, including Track 06 — which features her own voice, her phone call, pitched and distorted but still recognizably HER.

Lux's reaction happens in stages:

Stage 1 — Pride: Her son made an album. A real, complete, professional album. In London. After everything. After the funerals, the fear, the flights. He made something. She cries listening to Track 01 and the dedications to Dimitri and the others.

Stage 2 — Horror: Track 06. She hears herself. "Mijo. It's your madre... Sin Miedo, papi." She didn't know he recorded that call. She didn't consent. That was a private moment — a mother terrified for her son's life — and he turned it into art. She calls him immediately. The conversation is in Spanish, fast, heated. "Eso no es tuyo para compartir." (That's not yours to share.) Angel tries to explain it's art, it's tribute, it's honoring her. Lux: "You honored me by putting my fear on display for strangers? That's not honor. That's theft."

Stage 3 — Understanding (days later): Lux listens again. Alone. At night. She hears the choked sob after her message. She hears Angel say "I ain't safe." She realizes the track isn't about HER — it's about HIM processing the terror of being her son in a world that kills her son's friends. She calls back. Doesn't apologize (Lux doesn't apologize — Sin Miedo). Instead: "If you're going to use my voice, make sure it's the version of me that fights. Not the version that begs."

Angel re-records the intro with a new Lux voicemail — same words, but her tone is steel, not tears. The vaulted version has the original. If it ever drops, listeners will hear the mother who fights, not the mother who breaks. Only Angel and Lux know there are two versions.

DAME (THE EXECUTIVE PRODUCER)

Dame's relationship with the album is the most complex because she made it AND she killed it.

As Producer: This is her best work. The mournful piano on Track 06 is haunting. The way she mixed K-9's stutter on Track 03 — keeping the stumble, making it feel live and dangerous — is production genius. The 16-voice chant opening Track 04 took her two days to assemble. She's proud.

As Protector: She knows what happens when street music gets federal attention. Big 9 is already in Wormwood for life. If Dog Gone Profit surfaces and prosecutors connect Oakland RICO cases to London gang activity through Angel → SD Media → K-9 → Big 9, that's not just bad for Angel. That's bad for Big 9's appeal. That's bad for K-9's freedom. That's bad for every dog on every track.

As Artist: Dame watches the ProphetFilms footage and sees herself — young, talented, documenting everything because the camera is the only thing between you and disappearing. She was Angel before Angel arrived. The difference is she learned to control the narrative. Angel hasn't learned that yet. He films everything. He records everything. He puts everything on the album. Dame's job isn't just to produce the music — it's to teach Angel that some things are more powerful when they stay in the vault.

Dame's Decision: The album stays vaulted until three conditions are met: (1) Big 9's legal team confirms nothing on the album can be used against him, (2) Angel's Oakland situation is fully cold (no active federal interest), and (3) the Fountain Incident media cycle dies completely. Until then, it's locked in The Kennel's hard drive, encrypted, backed up on a USB in Dame's bra drawer next to Big 9's letters.

THE WORLD (THE SCENE / THE INTERNET / THE STREETS)

If it leaks: Underground grime forums lose their minds. A Bay Area MC on an SD Media project? With K-9? With ZED? The Track 02 cipher with "The E-Boy" gets analyzed bar for bar. Nobody knows who The E-Boy is — theories range from a SEPH ghost dog to a completely unknown MC to (correctly, by one anonymous poster who gets laughed off) Stray. The Dog-Law commandments from Track 04 become meme content — kids at NEPH start writing them on bathroom walls. "THOU SHALT NOT SNITCH" appears in chalk on the Plaza fountain the next morning. Alistair has it power-washed by noon.

The Music Press: UK grime publications are intrigued but cautious. An American on a grime track isn't new, but Angel isn't doing grime — he's doing something between grime, Bay Area hyphy, drill, and spoken word. There's no genre for it. One reviewer calls it "immigrant gospel." Another calls it "transatlantic threat music." The Poe reference on the title track gets picked up by a literary blog that has no idea what SD Media is — they just think the Tell-Tale Heart interpolation is clever. Suddenly Dog-Prophet has readers who've never heard grime in their lives.

Oakland: Word gets back to Ghost Town. Angel's old circle — what's left of it — has opinions. Some are proud (hometown kid went international). Some are suspicious (did he snitch his way to London? Is the album a cooperation agreement in disguise?). The dedications to Dimitri, Trey, Socks, and Yay on Track 01 either honor the dead or endanger the living, depending on who's listening. One of Angel's old associates sends a text: "Heard your thing. Sounds good. Take our names out." Angel doesn't reply. He can't. Those names are the only thing keeping those people alive in memory. Removing them would be its own kind of death.

The Metropolitan Police: If the album surfaces, it lands on a desk at the Met's Gangs Matrix unit within 48 hours. An analyst transcribes the Dog-Law commandments. They cross-reference "SD Media" with existing intelligence on the Stray Dogs. They note the cross-referencing of Oakland, Chicago, and London — which suggests international organized crime to anyone looking for it. They flag K-9's name. They flag Wormwood Scrubs. They add Angel Reyes to a watchlist. None of this results in immediate action — but it means the next time ANY dog does anything, the response will be heavier. The album doesn't cause a raid. It causes the raid after the raid to be worse.

THE E-BOY FALLOUT

The single most dangerous element of the album isn't the RICO references or the Dog-Law commandments. It's Track 02. The E-Boy. Stray.

If anyone identifies The E-Boy's voice as Stray:
- It proves Stray is NOT silent — he's active under aliases
- It connects Stray to Angel (Oakland) and therefore to whatever Angel is running from
- It destroys Stray's carefully constructed anonymity

- It gives K-9 a reason to feel betrayed (Stray raps with a newcomer but won't record with the pack?)
- It gives Dame a crisis (she might have known; if she didn't, she'll be furious she wasn't told)
- It gives Big 9 validation (he always knew Stray had bars; this proves it)
- It gives Zed nothing new (Zed already knows everything)

The E-Boy is a loaded gun on a shelf. Every day the album stays vaulted is a day that gun doesn't go off. Every day it leaks closer to the surface is a day someone might recognize the voice that was supposed to stay silent.

TRACK 08 CHANGES EVERYTHING

When Dame hears Track 08 for the first time — the FULL version, with the Lux dialogue, the 72 pills, the vodka from V's garage — she stops the playback. She doesn't walk out. She can't move. She sits in the producer chair and stares at the mixing board for a long time. Then she says, to no one: "He tried to die. He tried to die and then he flew to London and made an album." Dame has managed grief before — Big 9's sentencing, the funerals, the community losses. But this is different. This is a suicide survivor who put his attempt on tape. Dame doesn't vault the album after Track 08. She LOCKS it. There's a difference. Vaulted means waiting for the right time. Locked means she's not sure it should ever come out. She calls Big 9 that night. She doesn't play the track. She just says: "The Oakland kid tried to kill himself after his dad got shot. He put it on the album." Big 9 is quiet for thirty seconds. Then: "He's not leaving London. He stays with us. That's not a request."

K-9 hears Track 08 and goes silent. Not territorial. Not jealous. The silence of a 16-year-old who also has a brother in a cage, who also lost people, who also raps because stopping means drowning. But the suicide confession hits different. K-9 has heard Big 9 tell him online trolls said he should kill himself. K-9 has defended against that. But Angel actually DID it. Actually counted the pills — 72, two more than the bullets — and swallowed them with his dead father's vodka. K-9 doesn't speak to Angel for two days. Then he finds him at The Kennel and asks one question: "Your dad taught you to flow?" Angel nods. K-9: "Big 9 taught me." They sit together. K-9 doesn't bring up the pills. He doesn't need to. The fact that he's sitting next to Angel instead of across from him says everything.

Zed hears "70 shots to the chest" and his hand moves to his own scars — dragged three blocks, stabbed seven times. Zed knows overkill. Zed knows message killings. But when Zed hears the 72 pills, he goes completely still. Then he stands up and leaves The Kennel without a word. He comes back an hour later and hands Angel a piece of chalk. Doesn't explain. Angel looks at it. Zed: "When I wanted to die, I drew on walls instead. Keep it." Zed never mentions the Volkov name issue again. Some names need to stay on record.

Rax hears the album last because K-9 deliberately doesn't share it with him for a week. When Rax finally hears Track 08, he texts K-9: "Is he okay? Like actually okay?" K-9: "I think so. Dame's got him." Rax: "Bring him to the Plaza. He shouldn't be in a basement right now." K-9 doesn't reply, but the next day Angel is sitting at the coffee shop with Rax, not talking about music, just existing in daylight. Rax doesn't mention the track. He buys Angel a coffee and talks about lacrosse for an hour. It's the most normal Angel has felt since Oakland.

Chew-Toy hears it and immediately goes to Snout. This isn't about evidence files anymore. "The kid needs support. Real support. Not studio time — actual help." Snout, who doesn't do emotion, nods once. Within a week, Snout has quietly connected Angel with someone — not a therapist (Dogs don't do therapists), but an older community figure who lost a son to gun violence and survived. No paperwork. No referral. Just a phone number and the words: "Call him. He understands."

Lux never hears the released version of Track 08. Angel considers sending it. He opens the message three times. He can't. Because in the track, he calls her by her first name. He calls her "Lux" instead of "mom." And he confesses the 72 pills — which Lux found him seizing from, which Lux called the ambulance for, which Lux has never spoken about to anyone. If she hears it on a track, it becomes real in a way that living through it wasn't. Some things survive by never being named. Angel protects his mother the only way he knows how: by not letting her hear the truth she already lived through.

Big 9's final verdict, relayed through Dame: "That boy's not a new dog. He's an old dog in a young body. His father sent him to us. And we don't send people back."
